Matters had been so uninteresting that few senators were paying nor put the usual question in the usual way there was not a single objection raised. He exhibited letters sent to merchants of the State by a member of the Retail Grocers' Association of Indianapolis, which stated that the merchants had the Republican members where they wanted them, and that the bill would be driven through. He declared that the bill would place laboring men at the mercy of hard-hearted mer-

The senator from Tippecanoe interrupted: "The senator from Clark certainly is not aware that this is a substitute bill, a substitute which expressly provides that sickness or reasonable inability to pay debts does not make an employe liable to garnishment.' Senator Wood then spoke for the bill Senator Davis broke in with the remark that the bill was so ambiguously worded he could not comprehend its meaning. This brought a shot from Senator Wood. Senator Wolcott's bill giving the State Board of Education power to appoint a state high school inspector was strepuously objected to by some of the senators on the ground that the purposes of the officer were not clearly set out. The bill was ordered recommitted to the committee on education.

Senator Ball's barber bill came up on second reading and was passed to engrossment without much of a fight. An amendment was adopted which provides that the bill shall apply only to incorporated cities and towns.

Among the bills passed to engrossment were Senator Gray's bill to provide for the building of floodgates in ditches; Senator Ogborn's bill providing for the loaning of the common school fund; Senator Singer's bill legalizing the incorporation of the town of Versailles; Senator Starr's bill authorizing the trustees and superintendent of the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home to secure homes for the inmates: Senator Wampler's bill concerning county business; Senator Thompson's bill relating to the organization and perpetuity of voluntary associations; Senator Wood's bill concerning proceedings in civil cases, and Senator Barlow's bill amending the act relating to the incorporation of towns and defining the powers of officers. KNIVES OUT IN THE HOUSE.

Bills Were Slaughtered Without Mercy Until the Mood Wore Off.

The members of the House appeared to be in a bad humor when yesterday afternoon's session was opened. They had their axes and hammers out and started in to do some carpentry work that was not in the least constructive. One bill was defeated, another sent back to a committee to be radically amended and another had a hairbreath escape from an untimely death before the "grouch" that possesed the members wore off. Then they settled down to routine grind and passed eight bills without discussion or dissension.

The first bill that came up was the county superintendents' measure, introduced by Mr. Branch and backed by the superinof Education, and started the hostile demonstration. The bil was on its second reading and was open to recommitment, amendment or engrossment.

Mr. Adair, one of the minority leaders, offered an amendment which changed the bill materially, and spoke at length in support of his position. He said that his attention had first been called to the bill by letters he had received from various county superintendents and that his suspicions had been aroused because these officials were so anxious to secure votes for the bill. He had investigated it and had come to the conclusion that instead of being a bill for the benefit of the people of the State it was a measure solely in the interests of the superintendents, being, therefore, in his opinion, class legislation of a vicious kind, "This bill should be radically changed," said Mr. Adair, "before it should receive a single vote in this body. In the first place it provides that the county superintendents shall assume office on the first day of January, instead of ten days after their election in June. That means changing superintendents in the middle of the school year-swapping horses in the middle of the stream-and where the retiring superintendent and the new one have different views in regard to the management of the schools it will mean that the schools will be demoralized for that year at least. This change has been proposed in the present law solely to give the present superintendhas come in Indiana when the rights of the ents an extension of their present terms for

> PROVISIONS OF THE BILL. "Section 3 of the bill provides that the qualifications for county superintendents shall be increased to a five years' license, but that the present incumbents, all of whom have but three years' licenses, shall be eligible to re-election, or election at petuate in office the present superintendents. Why should one man be eligible to election with a three years' license while another is required to have a five years' license? There is no just reason for such discrimination, but we are asked to pass this bill because the present county superintendents know that it will greatly benefit them and virtually continue them in office

> "Further, this bill provides that the superintendents shall be given an allowance of from $250 to $500 for their expenses. In other words, we are asked to give them an increase in salary of that amount. It is a peculiar thing that a man will seek an office, spend his money in securing the nomination and election, and then, after he is securely in office, but not till then, discover that the salary is wholly inadequate, and that he should be given an increase. I am opposed to this bill in its months, because it will have a bad effect on the school in providing a change of superintendents in the middle of the school year, because it discriminates unjustly in favor of the men now in office in practically outsiders who seek election, and because it increses the compensation of men now in office. The amendments I have offered Mr. Adair was liberally applauded both from members of the majority and minority at the conclusion of his speech, and when Mr. Smith, of Cass, made a motion to lay the amendments on the table the motion was voted down, showing that the county superintendents' lobby has not been altogether successful in its work. Mr. Miller, of Bartholomew, offered a motion to recommit the bill with instruc tions to report an amendment providing for the election of county superintendents by popular vote and such other amendments as may be deemed fit. The motion to recommit took precedence over Mr. Adair's motion to amend and it was carried by a large vote. Mr. Adair's amendments will probably be incorporated in the committee's recommendations.

House Bill No. 80-the dentists' billcame up on third reading, as a special order, immediately after the disposition of the superintendents' bill, and Mr. Van Fleet, of Elkhart, promptly offered a motion to recommit the bill to the committee on rights and privileges with instructions to report an amendment providing that the bill shall not bar from practice dentists without licenses who work under the direction of a regularly licensed dentist. He spoke to his motion and told of three men n Elkhart, all of whom have been practicing for some time, one of them for over thirty years, who would be barred from further practice under a licensed dentist if the bill became a law in its present

DEBATE ON DENTISTS' BILL. Mr. Sparks, the sponsor of the bill, re plied to Mr. Van Fleet. He said that while wanted to tell something that he knew about one of three men cited by the member from Elkhart.

Mr. Van Fleet did not take kindly to this tion of personal privilege. "I deny every word of that statement?" he said, shaking his long arm and forefinger at the member from Rush. "The man to whom I referred, and to whom he has just referred, never attempted to pass an examination. He is here in this hall at this moment to substantiate that statement. Mr. Sparks-"Well, all I know is that > examination, and his paper displayed woeful ignorance." Mr. Stookey, of Kosciuskko, offered an amendment to Mr. Van Fleet's motion, providing for an amendment to the bil whereby a man who has practiced dentistry for a period of five years shall be eligible he has not graduataed from a college of

Mr. Sparks moved to table Mr. Stookey's mendment, but his motion was lost and the amendment was then adopted. The question recurred then to the adoption of Mr. Van Fleet's motion to recommit as decision was difficult to reach. amended by Mr. Stookey's motion. This question was put by a viva voce vote and the speaker held that it was lost because the motion required a two-thirds vote. Some of the members raised a question as o how the speaker could determine whether there was a two-thirds vote when the ayes and noes were not called, but he held to

Mr. Van Fleet then moved to reconsider the vote by which his motion was defeated. Sparks attempted to have this motion abled but failed, and the motion to reconsider was adopted. The question was again on Mr. Van Fleet's motion to recommit and the ayes and noes were demanded. The roll call showed 62 ayes and 23 noes, and the motion was lost for want of a twothirds vote of all the members of the

The bill was then placed on its passage and it was discovered that its friends had acted unwisely in attempting to prevent amendments, for it was defeated by a vote of 36 to 46. Mr. Sparks changed his vote from "aye" to "no" at the last moment in order that he might be able to make a motion to reconsider, and he made the motion as soon as the vote was announced. Mr. Slack moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table, and his motion prevailed. The bill was dead. STUTESMAN'S CLOSE CALL.

The next bill up was Mr. Stutesman's measure establishing a Superior Court in the counties of Miami, Wabash and Huntington, and before the member from Miami knew what was happening his bill was being knifed on both sides. No discussion preceded the vote on its passage and Adair, of the minority, started the landslide against the bill with a vigorous no. Stutesman walked up and down the aisle trying to hold his friends among the majority in line, but many of them voted against the bill and when it came his time to vote the bill was virtually defeated. He made a short explanation in which he said that the bill was an innocent measure affecting only the counties mentioned and that there was nothing sinister or ulterior back of it was nothing sinister or ulterior back of it. No. 239—Gray—To exempt from taxation His speech started things his way and at (if so authorized by the county assessor) who had voted no changed to the affirmative. After ten minutes' delay enough votes were changed to pass the bill by a vote of 53 to 35, but it was a close shave. It developed afterward that some of the opposition to the bill came because all of the people in Huntington county do not want the court. One member said he voted against it because he had been informed that the bill was introduced at the instance of only a few men in each of the three counties.

A number of other bill were taken up on third reading and passed, notably Mr. Wright's voting machine bill, which applies only to Marion county. There was no discussion of the bill and it was passed with only three negative votes. The bill creating a state forestry reserve and the bill providing for a State commission to receive and distribute among the various medical and dental colleges all bodies for dissecting purposes were also passed.

TO FIGHT CONSUMPTION.

Bill Will Be Introduced to Establish State Sanatorium.

Henry A. Goetz, of New Albany, is in the city in the interests of a bill, which he will have introduced at an early date, providing for the establishment of a State sanatorium for consumptives. The bill carries an appropriation of $20,000. Mr. Goetz proposes to donate thirty acres of land as a site for the sanatorium and to give the State a bond guaranteeing it against further expense in the way of maintenance before the appropriation for its establishment shall be available. The bill creates a commission of four to take charge of the appropriation and the institution. As an argument in support of this bill, Mr. Goetz cites what other States and other countries, as well as private individuals, are doing to fight the dread disease-consumption. He says that there are similar sanatoriums in Vermont and New York; that Henry Phipps has given $300,000 for the establishment and $40,000 annually for the support of such an institution in Philadelphia; that an unknown man has given $1,000,000 for such work in New York city: that John D. Rockefeller will give $7,000,000 to Chicago University for this purpose; that Germany has forty-four such sanatoriums; that England has an institution with $1,000,000 back of it, and that Brussels has expended $3,000,000 in the work.

More Pay for County Officers. The Senate committee on fees and salaries yesterday afternoon decided to recommend for passage Senator Gard's bill providing a basis on which compensation shall be paid to county officers. There was considerable argument advanced against the bill in its original form, but the members of the committee finally got together by making mutual concessions and agreed upon a report. The bill provides that county officers shall be paid so much for the first 10,000 of population and so much for each additional 10,000, with 10 per cent, of the total fees collected. On the whole the bill, if enacted into law, would increase the salaries of practically all the county officers moderately.

A bill to establish police judges in cities of less than six thousand population and fixing the compensation of the judges was killed by the committee. The committee held that the mayor should continue to exercise judicial functions in police courts, and that the present system is entirely satisfactory.

The House committee on elections heard the arguments of the attorneys in the Hamilton-Schloot contest case last night, and this morning at 3:30 o'clock the committee will meet to take final action on the contest. One of the members of the committee said that he had never heard of a case that was so complicated, and that a "The committee wants to do the right thing," he said, "but from the mass of conflicting evidence it is hard to decide which side has made the stronger case.'

Urging Impeachment of Rasch.

A delegation of prominent citizens from Evansville arrived in the city yesterday afternoon to urge the Legislature to institute impeachment proceedings against Judge Rasch, of their city. Those in the party were J. E. Iglehart, S. R. Horn-brook, W. N. Hostetter, H. M. Logsden, Frank Gore, R. D. Richardson, E. I. Lockyear and J. E. Williamson.

Coal Exchange Probably Dead.

According to the statements of men who have been indentified with the Indianapolis Coal Exchange, the combination has become disorganized. Several of the officers, including Micael Steinhauer, president, yesterday said that there was nothing more on which to base an organization and that the exchange was practically dead. Deputy Prosecutor Charles Benedict said yesterday that the statement that the Coal Exchange has quit would not interfere with his future actions. Judge Alford, of the Criminal Court, said recently that he will instruct the new grand jury to take up the investigation as it was left by the last grand jury and Benedict said yesterday

John Sage Says He Is Insane and

Wants to Be Locked Up.

Sergeant Crane was much surprised yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock when John ("Crippy") Sage walked into the police station and asked to be locked up on the charge of being insane. Sage insisted on being locked up, because, he said, he felt his mind was giving way on account of some money matters. Crane tried to assure Sage that he was in good mind, but he pleaded that he be locked up, as he might injure some one if he were allowed to be at liberty. Crane then scrutinized Sage closev. and saw in his wandering, nervous eyes that what Sage told him was probably true. Sage lives with his father and mother at 719 Cedar street. He was in the insane hospital about two years ago.

There have been times when the wild beasts have been more merciful

human beings, and spared the woman cast to them in the arena. It is astonishing how little sympathy women have for women. In the home the mistress sees the maid with the signs of suffering she recognizes so well, but she does not lighten the sick girl's load by a touch of her finger. In the store the forewoman sees the pallor and exhaustion which mark womanly weakness, but allows nothing for them. It is work or quit.
